

Celebrate Life

In the midst of a crisis, it's hard to see beyond the immediate problem to get a glimpse of any joy that may lie ahead. Life doesn't seem worth celebrating.

When the future seems dark and uncertain, the light of Christ is desperately needed. We need to offer every individual the hope that can only be found in Him.

With your help a young girl can come to realize that the precious life growing inside of her is eternal; an uncertain father-to-be can have the courage to help his partner choose life; and a lonely teen can find their value in Christ and refuse to be swayed by peer pressure.

Will you help someone see past the pain of today and reach for the joy of the future? Join with a local pregnancy center to become a volunteer for life; partner with them through financial support; participate in fundraising events; and most of all, keep the battle for life often in your prayers.

With your help, we can truly celebrate life!
